

An introduction to Irwin Mitchell Abogados

The nightmare of a legal problem in Spain ... and how to end it

Sooner or later we all run into a legal problem. It could happen in your home, at work or while you are on holiday. However, in Spain a legal problem can easily turn into a nightmare.

Spanish laws are not only different from the UK, but they can also appear totally alien as they may use legal terms that you find difficult to understand. The intricate Spanish system of regions, courts and regulations could also mean lots of extra paperwork and costly delays.

Avoid frustration

You can avoid frustration with Irwin Mitchell Abogados. Our lawyers have been trained in the UK and in Spain. We are familiar with the different cultures of the two countries.

As we are genuinely bi-lingual, our people explain the situation to you in your own language, using everyday words rather than legal jargon. We know how to cut through red tape and save you valuable time.

We take the stress out

We work with you to find the available solutions for your problem, explain your options and advise you on the best course of action. For example, whether to take action in Spain or the UK and what impact national laws will have. In short, you get practical advice that you can use and most importantly, we take the stress out of your legal problem.
